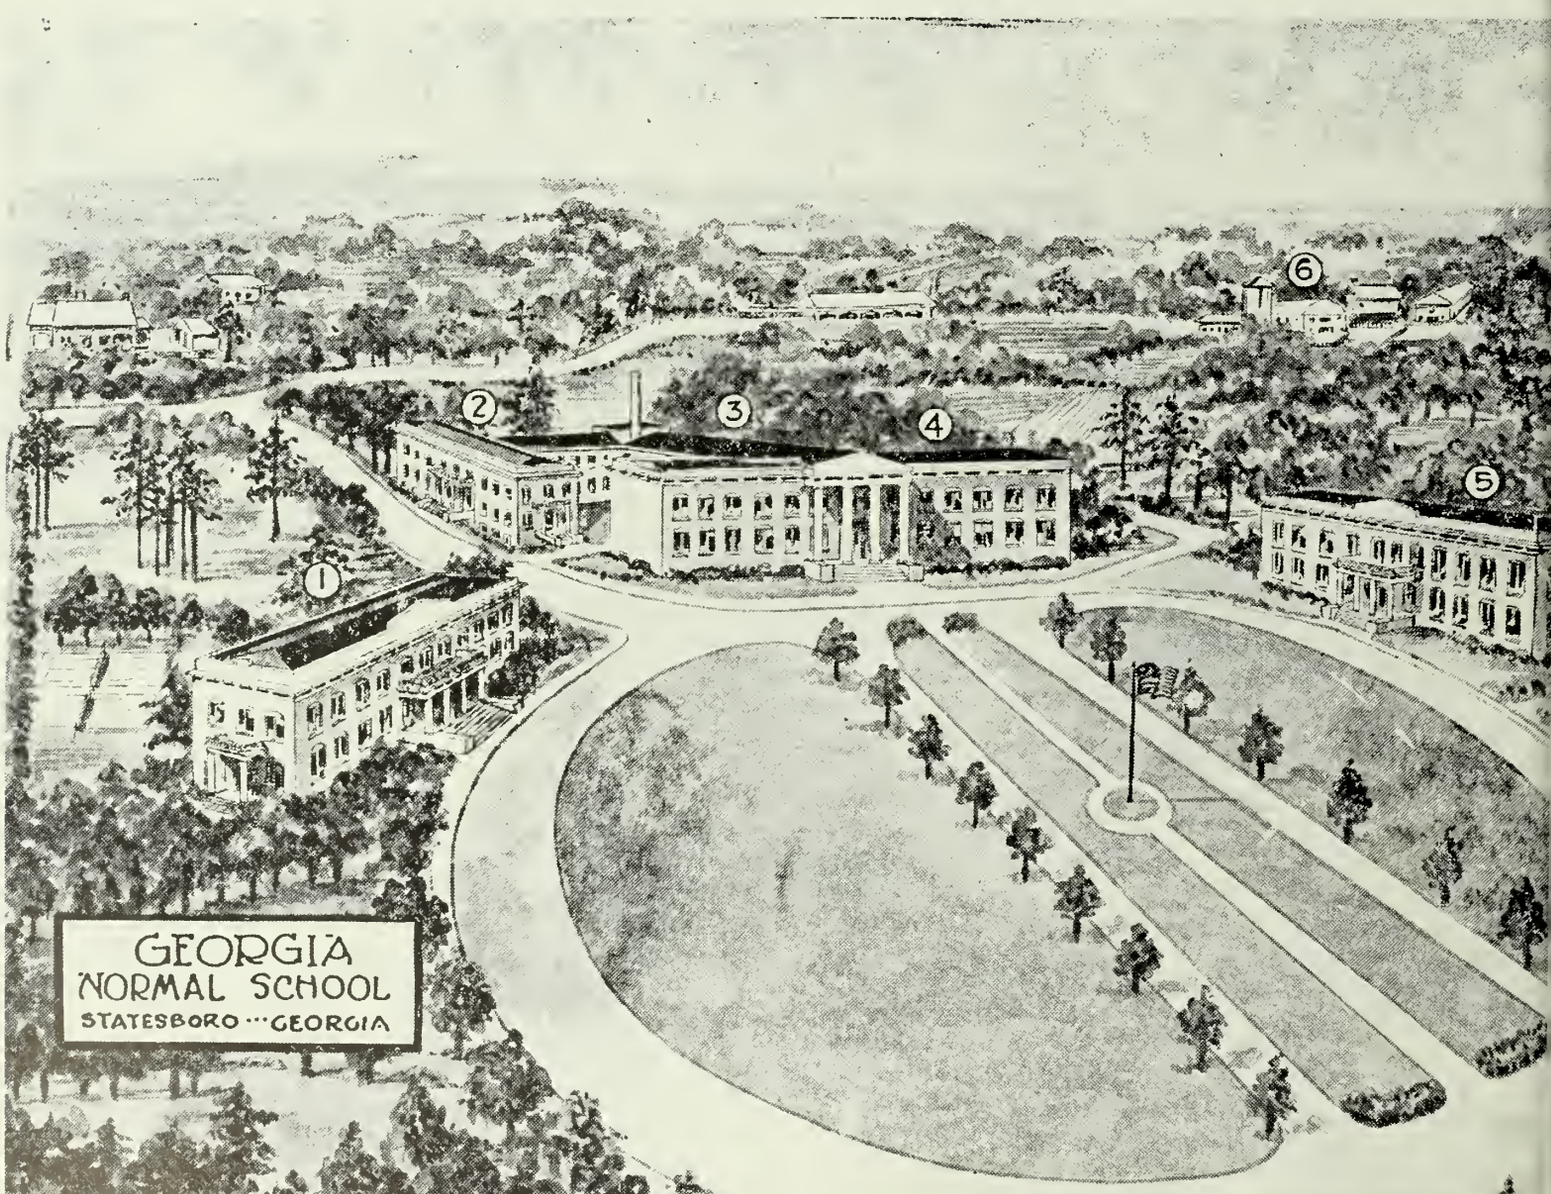
Zach S. Henderson —

The Man and the College

Zach Suddath Henderson—a man caught up in and dedicated to a vision of the importance of education and the future of an institution, and yet, a man with the activism, the capacity for leadership, to make the vision of progress a reality . . . this is the man who, in his twenty years as president, has brought Georgia Southern College from a small teachers college to a full-fledged institution of higher learning. His retirement this year, after forty years of service as an administrator, marks the end of an era—an era of progress and phenomenal growth—and the beginning of a new era of advancement and continued improvement.

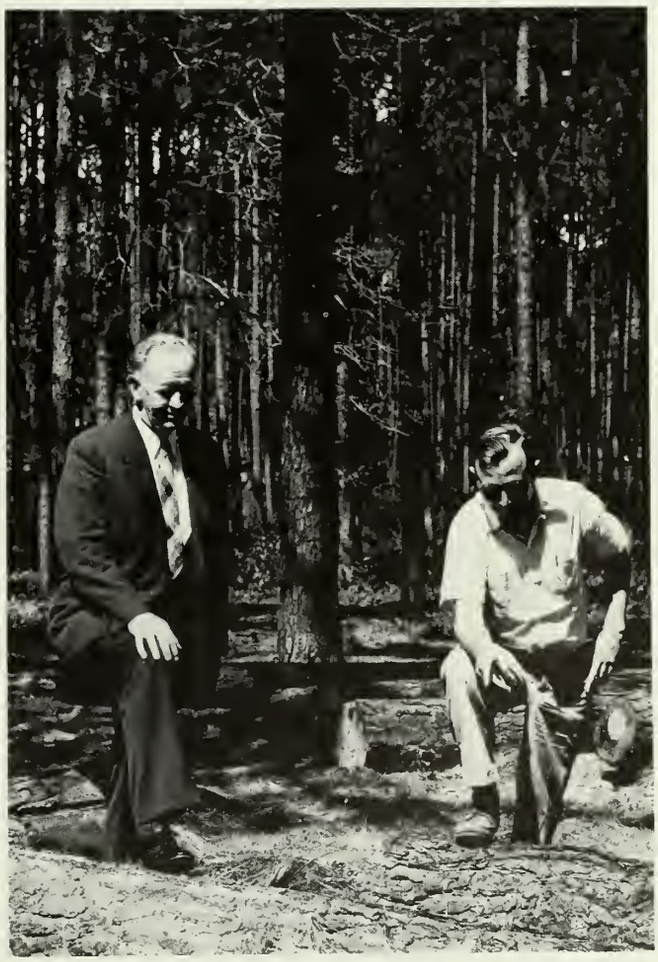
When Henderson became Dean of Georgia Normal School in 1927, only the normal diploma in education was offered, and the physical facilities of the school were limited to the three original buildings of the 1908 campus, the Administration Building and East and West Halls, plus Anderson Hall, an annex to the Ad building. Henderson's twenty years as Dean were years of growth for the man as well as the college. During these years the school's name was changed to South Georgia Teachers College and authority given to confer the B. S. degree in education; as student enrollment increased, buildings were added. It was also during these formative years that Henderson, working under four presidents, gained much of the insight and experience which was to make him such an able and effective leader.

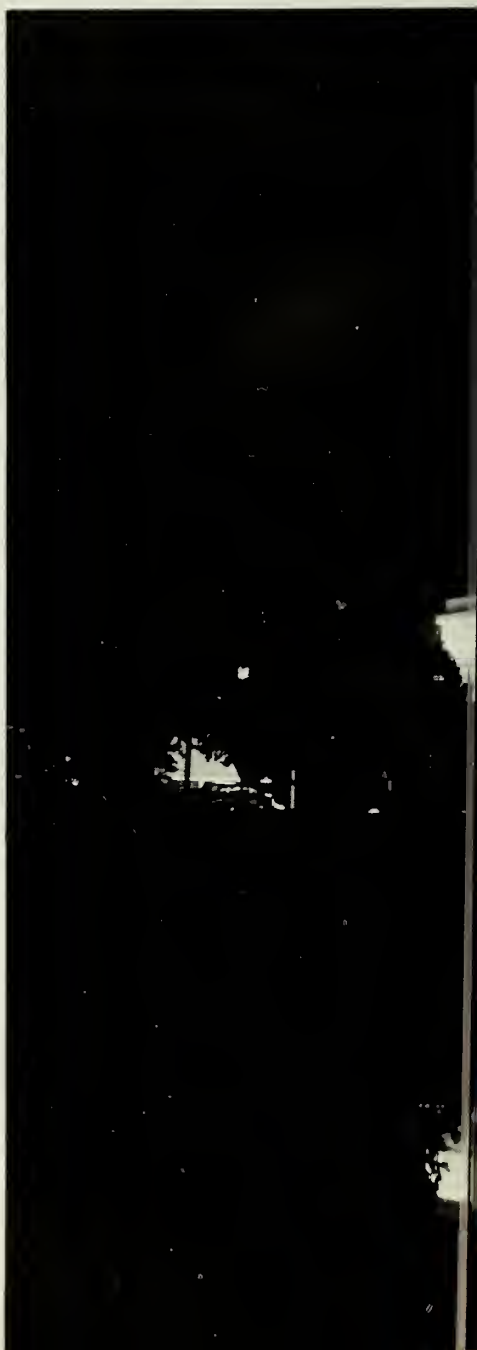


Henderson was named President of the college in 1948 by the Board of Regents, succeeding Judson C. Ward, who had served one year following the retirement of Dr. Marvin S. Pittman, and Paul S. Carroll was appointed Dean. In 1948 there were twelve buildings on the campus and an enrollment of 724. The first half of the Marvin Pittman laborator school was in use, and around it centered most of the academic activity of the college, for the preparation of teachers for Georgia schools was still the main objective of the college. Under Henderson's leadership Georgia Teachers College came to be recognized as one of the top teacher education schools in the state; but President Henderson's vision and insight led him to seek to expand and broaden the program of the college. Pursuing this goal, he obtained approval of the Board of Regents for an A. B. degree program in history and English in 1955, launching the college on its way to becoming a liberal arts college. The mid-fifties brought a general surge of growth as the enrollment of the college increased rapidly and new buildings were added. In 1959, the name was changed again, this time to Georgia Southern College.

Henderson's intense determination to expand and improve Georgia Southern College led him to seek out friendships and associations within circles of influence and power. He promoted Georgia Southern everywhere he went, among educators, legislators, the state Board of Regents, and the public, and through his ability and activity built up an immense personal prestige and influence. His personal friendships with Georgia governors through the years and with other influential people are in large measure the key to President Henderson's success in leading the progress of the college.

Though always active in educational affairs and in promoting the college throughout the state and beyond, as well as constantly busy discussing and planning with the administration and faculty of the college, President Henderson took an active and interested part in the campus life of the college, for he was interested primarily in the students and concerned that he should remain in contact with students. He actively participated in the traditions and spirit of the college and was concerned that these traditions and this spirit be preserved.

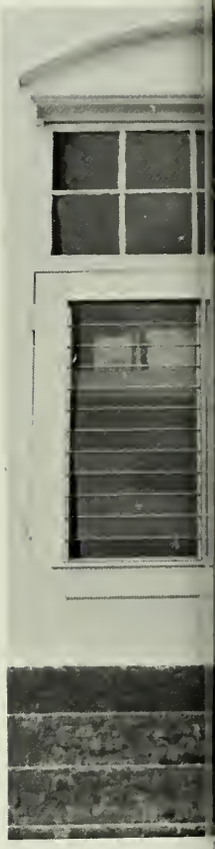




The result of the capacity for progressive leadership, the dedication, the insight, and the hard work of Zach Henderson—in short, the effect of the man on the college—is evident in the steady growth by giant steps over the twenty years of his presidency. The surge which began in the mid-fifties has today blossomed into a complete, multi-purpose academic program offering five undergraduate degrees in some thirty major fields, and four graduate degree programs in sixteen fields, plus a six-year program in education in seven fields.

The effect of the man is evident in the burgeoning campus of today, with over four thousand students and thirty-two buildings, and in the far-sighted and carefully planned comprehensive development program which President Henderson initiated and which is already underway with construction on the Hanner Gym annex and the first phase of the science building complex.

Georgia Southern—the college today—stands as a tribute, as a concrete indication of the vision, ability and strength of the man—Zach Suddath Henderson.



Through the twenty years of Zach Henderson's presidency, he has had at his side a capable administrator, and able assistant, a valuable advisor—a man who shared his vision of progress and played a vital role in the realization of this vision. This man was Dean Paul F. Carroll. Carroll was appointed as Dean of the College in the same year that Henderson became president, and has retired this year along with Henderson.

Much of the progress of the college in the academic realm is due to his efforts and abilities in working with the faculty to expand existing programs and set up new programs, and provide the personnel for them. Dean Carroll is largely responsible for maintaining a consistent policy of academic freedom of individual professors, an element of vital importance to the development of a strong, progressive college. In the overall story of the growth and progress of Georgia Southern, Dean Carroll's influence has contributed much of lasting value.

Fine Arts

The Division of Fine Arts is composed of the Department of Music and the Department of Visual Arts. Both now occupy newly expande facilities and offer a wide scope of opportunities and challenges in the field of Fine Arts. The Department of Music offers the A.B. degree with a major or minor in applied music or church music, the B. Mus. with a major in piano, orchestral instrument, voice, organ and church music, or theory and composition, and the B.S. in Education with a major in Music Education. On the graduate level programs leading to the Master of Education and the Master of Science for teachers are offered. The Department of Visual Arts offers a major in Art Education in the B.S. in Education degree and a major in Art in the B.A. degree program.

This Division provides the college with a number of concerts and exhibits which offer to all the students of Georgia Southern a chance to enrich their exposure to the fields of the Fine Arts.

Health, Physical Education, and Recreation

The Division of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation serves three functions on the Georgia Southern campus. First, its staff teaches the phys. ed. courses that are required of all students. Second, both the intramural and intercollegiate sports programs fall within its area of responsibility. And third, it offers programs of professional training in Health and Physical Education and in Recreation. Georgia Southern is the only college in Georgia that offers a professional degree in Recreation.

Home Economics

The Division of Home Economics prepares students for effective home and family management. Georgia Southern is one of the three senior colleges of the University System offering Home Economics. The Bachelor of Science in Home Economics and the Bachelor of Science in Education with the major in Home Economics are the two degrees offered by this division.

The Division of Home Economics is well staffed and equipped with laboratories and classrooms which are housed in the Herty Building. The Home Management Residence and the Nursery School supplement the classroom facilities.

Business Administration

The Division of Business at Georgia Southern College has grown rapidly in order to keep pace with the ever-increasing opportunities which Southern industry and business offers today. To cover the broad spectrum of requirements for this field, the Division of Business offers programs in accounting, finance, marketing, management, and business education leading to degrees of Bachelor of Business Administration or Bachelor of Science in Secretarial Administration.

The faculty of the Division of Business is composed of men and women well qualified to meet the demands which arise in creating a Division which ranks high in the national scale of progress. This faculty, and the excellent facilities which house this Division, more than amply meet the needs which Southern expansion and growth require.

The Blanche Landrum Center

Georgia Southern's Student Center facilities were greatly added to this winter quarter with the opening of the Blanche Landrum Center. The new center houses a mail center, a new bookstore location, and a cafeteria. The Williams Center will undergo a transformation in order to utilize the space left available by the new center as recreational and lounge facilities for the center for the students. The new student center is further evidence of the great expansion which Georgia Southern is now undergoing.

Marvin Pittman Laboratory School

Marvin Pittman is one of the unique features of Georgia Southern. It is an active, accredited public school, but also a laboratory school which serves the Education Division. Students in programs ranging from early elementary teaching to high school teaching obtain valuable practices and experience from the Marvin Pittman facilities, and many education majors do their student teaching at the lab school. The nursery section is an invaluable aid to the Home Economics Division, for there, Home Ec. students put to use their classroom knowledge of child care.

Marvin Pittman plays a large and important role in the educational activities of Southern, and it is an important unit of the teacher education program.

Spring '67 –

A Formal Ball and a Week of Fun.

Spring quarter 1967 was, as are all spring quarters, a hard quarter to study. Weekends are filled with dances and concerts. The annual Spring Swing week featured fun in Sweetheart Circle and Chad and Jeremy, Little Stevie Wonder and James and Bobby Purify, Lee Dorsey, Jack Black, and Barbecue by the lake. The Old South Ball was the prime social event of the quarter, Francisco Espinosa, flamenco guitarist, performed on campus, the Masquers presented "Panteglieze," and the Weis Theatre showed "Blowup" for a month.

A Quarter of Unrest and Revolt.

The spring weather also brought to a climax the feelings of dissatisfaction among the students . . . dissatisfaction with the administration, with college regulations, and with the food in the dining hall. The agitations of the mysterious "CCC" produced a Sunday night protest in the dining hall and got GSC on WSAV. The Student Congress and the administration, roused from their lethargy by fears of mass revolt, began working for the amelioration of campus problems—and we got spiced ham and social frats . . . and those who weren't kicked out graduated . . .

Fall '67

Cultural Expansion . . .

Fall brought the leaves to the ground and the students back to campus for another year of the college experience. The formal opening of the Foy Fine Arts Building in October marked a giant step in the struggle to broaden the intellectual and cultural horizons of Georgia Southern students. In this quest the Music department presented lawn concerts and the Campus Life Enrichment Committee presented the Netherlands String Quartet. The Masquers produced "A Servant of Two Masters" and the Student Congress Lecture Series featured Henry Morgan . . . "How can you think in a dry county?" . . . "What does Jesus save, pine trees?"

. . . and Out 'a Sight Entertainment.

Fall quarter also had its share of the soulful sound, the up tight out'a sight, the dancing, partying and fast living that is part of college life. Freshman Talent Night started it off and then it was The Showmen, The Shirelles, The Tams, and The Imperials with Little Anthony . . . and it was free Miller at Roy's . . . and then it was Christmas.

Winter '68 –

Rain and Signs of Progress.

Nine dismal dreary weeks of rain, mud, freezing weather and classes before sunup—the only thing good about winter quarter is that it's the shortest one—and that's not so good when you're trying to finish a term paper the weekend before finals and it was due last week. And when the pain and pressure of this worst of all quarters became too much, it was a mass pilgrimage to the shrine in Chandler county.

Winter quarter 1968, the campus was full of the signs of progress in a growing institution . . . rush week—the first formal rush, with eleven colonies of national social fraternities participating under the full coordination of the Interfraternity Council . . . red clay and steel—construction on the new gym and the science buildings made registration lines even more fun than usual, dodging cats and earthmovers.

Homecoming '68 —

Preparation . . .

Winter quarter's fun-week—homecoming. It began with a lot of hard work and planning and building. Going to classes and studying faded into the background, and it was making signs and displays and floats . . . hanging letters and stuffing Delsey's and spraying red paint.

. . . and Culmination.

Then came the big weekend and those who had been working all week began to blow it out and those who had been blowing it out all week just kept right on blowing it out . . . starting with the pep-rally and going through the Sunday morning worship service. The Pozo Seco Singers gentled through "Time" and wailed a little "Silver Threads and Golden Needles", and the Pieces of Eight socked it to a soaked crowd. Cheryl Teston was crowned Homecoming Queen at half-time of the game with the Guilford Quakers, and Zeta Tau Alpha won the "Happiness is . . ." float contest with " . . . the year of the Greeks."

Plays, a Coffeehouse, and Snow!

Some of the winter quarter monotony was relieved by the record snow of February. The snowmen lasted through lunch, and snowballs flew for three days.

Another step up in the cultural level came with the forming of a coffee-house by a group of students and faculty, the Exit. CLEC presented the hit Broadway Anthony Newley-Leslie Bricusse musical "The Roar of the Greasepaint, the Smell of the Crowd," and the Philadelphia Chamber Symphony. The fantasy "Ondine" was staged by the Masquers, James Haggarty, ABC executive, spoke in the Student Congress lecture, and Ralph McGill spoke to the faculty and held a discussion at the Exit.

IAT

Miss Barby Cronk, Sweetheart of Iota Alpha Tau

IAT shuts down Sigma Pi 21-0.

Founded in May, 1964, Iota Alpha Tau is composed of students who are majoring in Industrial Arts, Industrial Management or Industrial Technology.

Its purposes are to foster and promote an interest in and an appreciation of the highly technical and industrial world in which we live. The purposes of this fraternity are fulfilled through various social and educational activities on and off the Georgia Southern College Campus.

This year, Iota Alpha Tau won the "Most Outstanding Departmental Fraternity Award", represented Georgia Southern College in the display booth at the Ogeechee Fair, participated in Homecoming, and constructed and mounted the letters "GSC" on the Georgia Southern water tower.

Student Congress

Student Congress Serves as the coordinating body for all campus activities. The purpose of this organization is to render maximum service in promoting the general well-being of the college community.

The major functions include: Determination of the collective will of the student body; making constructive recommendation on issues related to student welfare; coordinating college activities and organizations; creating better understanding between students, faculty and administration.

In an effort to provide a creative and stimulating environment for the students, Congress sponsors a variety of events ranging from the social sphere to the academic. In addition to Homecoming Week and Twirp Week, these activities include concerts, dances, forums on a variety of subjects of local and national interest, and community projects.

THE George-Anne

Published By Students of Georgia Southern College

The "George-Anne," the college newspaper, is a weekly publication with a circulation of 5000. It is organized by an editorial board with separate staffs for advertising and circulation. The paper's purpose is to provide accurate, timely, and truthful accounts of campus activities. It also provides editorials, features, and a forum for student opinion.

The "George-Ann" received the 1967 Georgia Press Association award for Best Campus Coverage-Features. Among the topics featured in the paper have been "The Campus at Night," "The GSC Woman," "The Henderson Years", and "The Anatomy of a Play."

The Panhellenic Creed

We, the Fraternity Undergraduate Members, stand for good Scholarship, for guarding of good health, for whole-hearted cooperation with our college's ideals for student life, for the maintenance of fine social standards, and for the serving, to the best of our ability, of our college community. Good college citizenship as a preparation for good citizenship in the larger world of alumnae days is the ideal that shall guide our chapter activities.

We, the Fraternity Women of America, stand for preparation for service through the character building inspired in the close contact and deep friendship of fraternity life. To us, fraternity life is not the enjoyment of special privileges but an opportunity to prepare for wide and wise human service.

Alpha Delta Pi

ΑΔΠ

The Epsilon Pi Chapter of Alpha Delta Pi national sorority was established at Georgia Southern College December 3, 1967. The forty-eight charter members were formerly sisters of Gamma Sigma Upsilon, the college's first service sorority.

Alpha Delta Pi is the oldest secret society for college women. It was established at Wesleyan Female College in 1851. Alpha Delta Pi seeks to improve the mental, moral, social, and academic standards of its sisters thus giving them a reward of wisdom and friendship.

ΔZ

Iota Nu Chapter of Delta Zeta Sorority was installed at Georgia Southern on November 9, 1967, and was the first national sorority to come to the campus.

Delta Zeta is the largest national sorority in the United States. Iota Nu was the one hundred and seventy-sixth chapter to be installed, and they have carried out projects such as shoe shines in the men's dorms, a successful sale of mums for Homecoming, and the entry of a float in the Homecoming Parade and a Homecoming skit which won first prize.

Presentation of charter from National President.

ZTA

Zeta Tau Alpha women's national social fraternity originated October 15, 1898, at Longwood College, Virginia. It has the distinction of being the first women's fraternity to be chartered by the state of Virginia, and holds the only charter granted by a special act of the state legislature.

Zeta Xi, the chapter in Georgia Southern, is the fourth Zeta Tau Alpha chapter in Georgia. Zeta Xi was pledged January 6, 1968, and in the same month was awarded first place trophy for their float in the Homecoming parade.

Phi Mu Fraternity had its beginning at GSC in December when the sisters of Theta Pi Omega Service Sorority were installed as colony Members. The group functioned as a colony until March 9, when they were initiated as Kappa Mu Chapter of Phi Mu Fraternity.

Phi Mu has carried on many projects, nationally and locally. It is the first college fraternity in America to adopt the Hospital Ship SS Hope on a national basis. On campus, the sisters collected Christmas cards for servicemen in Viet Nam, sponsored the Homecoming Pep Rally and Bonfire, and aided with the Heart Fund drive. One of the biggest projects of the Fraternity was the publication of the Student Directory, 1968.

The Interfraternity Council

The Georgia Southern College Interfraternity Council was established Fall Quarter, 1967. There were six charter organizations signing the original constitution. They were: Alpha Tau Omega, Chi Sigma, Tau Epsilon Phi, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Pi, and Sigma Epsilon Chi.

Since that time, five other social fraternity colonies or affiliates have been granted membership. They are: Pi Kappa Phi, Delta Tau, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, and Sigma Nu.

The Georgia Southern College Interfraternity Council was established to act as a co-ordinating body between the fraternities and between the fraternities and the administration of the college.

Delta Tau, a local social fraternity, was organized October 1, 1967, for the specific purpose of establishing Delta Tau Delta, national social fraternity, on the Georgia Southern campus. The fraternity received colony status in March of 1968, and are presently working to receive their Delta Charter.

Delta Tau Delta offers to college men a nucleus of brotherhood, a place to live and learn together. The fraternity's programs include opportunities for study, work, social activities, and the development of maturity in the company of other men.

Kappa Alpha Order, over 100 years old and numbering nearly 100 chapters south of the Mason-Dixon Line, formally installed the Delta Theta Chapter on March 29, 1968. The Delta Theta Chapter was formerly Sigma Epsilon Chi Service Fraternity, which was established in 1965, and has since expanded to 36 active members. Sigma Epsilon Chi had previously sponsored such top entertainers as the Rolling Stones, Swinging Medallions, Jay and the Americans, Percy Sledge, Rufus Thomas, Barbara Lewis, and others.

The Delta Theta Chapter has members in many phases of student activities. The chapter also prides itself as being one of the Charter members of the Interfraternity Council.

Pi Kappa Phi fraternity was founded in 1904 at the College of Charleston in South Carolina. The national office, now located in Charlotte, North Carolina, supervises the activities of the chapters and colonies now covering the nation. The chapters located in the Southeastern region include FSU, Auburn, The University of Alabama, University of Florida, Stetson, Mercer, Georgia State, Georgia Tech, University of Georgia, and Valdosta State.

The Kappa Phi colony was founded at Georgia Southern on November 8, 1967 by thirteen interested students. With the addition of one initiated brother, numerous pledges, and the selection of Mr. Robert Fishburn as faculty advisor, the total membership has grown to over thirty members. Through hard work and a close brotherhood, the Kappa Phi colony hopes to be one of the first and most outstanding national fraternities at Georgia Southern.

Sigma Pi

Sigma Pi national social fraternity was founded February 26, 1897, at Vincinnes University, Vincinnes, Indiana. There are now 89 chapters in the United States.

The Georgia Southern Colony of Sigma Pi was installed Fall quarter of 1967 and started preparations for petitioning Sigma Pi national for a charter. During the two quarters of its colony status, Sigma Pi sponsored the Homecoming Parade and Activities Day during Twirp Week. On April 20, 1968, the colony was officially installed as an active chapter of Sigma Pi national.

The Sigma Epsilon Colony at Georgia Southern was colonized winter quarter of 1968. It is now working toward the goal of becoming Georgia Epsilon Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon in the fall of 1968. The Sig Eps sponsored a float in the Homecoming Parade and participated in the Heart Fund Drive winter quarter.

The Southern Colony of Tau Kappa Epsilon

Tau Kappa Epsilon International Fraternity is the largest social fraternity in the world with 234 active undergraduate chapters and 37 colonies. The Southern Colony of Tau Kappa Epsilon, the first social fraternity on the campus of Georgia Southern, was chartered on July 21, 1967. Since that date the colony's brotherhood has increased to 31 brothers. Included among the Southern Colony's social activities on campus were the Starlight Ball and the Christmas Tree Lighting of Fall Quarter, 1967. The Southern Colony also led all Social Fraternities in the scholastic average for Fall Quarter.

Winter Quarter, 1968, saw the Southern Colony hold its first Founder's Day celebration and complete its work toward petitioning for a TKE Chapter.

Miss Faye Riddle is serving as the Colony Sweetheart and Dr. Carl A. Ross, assistant professor of history, is the current colony advisor.

In the fall of 1967, Chi Sigma, a local social fraternity, was organized after approval of national social fraternities at Georgia Southern College. Chi Sigma, although not a national social fraternity, was organized by twelve members of a national service fraternity and six others with the intention of affiliation with a national social fraternity.

Among Chi Sigma's projects this year were its annual Christmas project for a needy Statesboro family and aiding a local sorority on their Homecoming float.

Inexperienced But . . .

Team of '67-'68 was young, inexperienced . . . Elden Carmichael and Barry Miller only players who had seen considerable action . . . but Eagles came through in tough games . . . Two sweet victories over Oglethorpe, who finished with only five losses . . . We must have something . . . Excitement? We have it here at Southern . . . seven overtime games . . . seven games with only six or less point margins . . . Let's not forget the leaders . . . Coach Radovich's first season at the helm . . . grand performance . . . he lives basketball . . . Assistant Coach J. E. Rowe . . . knowledge of wheel offense helped us whip Oglethorpe . . . Thanks, Coach . . .

Southern's first Negro player, Roger Moore, who quickly lost his lackadaisical air he had at Beach High and filled position of center well for the Eagles . . . And then, transfer guard from ABAC—Dave Westerfield became sparkplug of team . . . driving proved effective . . . few players stay with him one-on-one . . . Carmichael lit up his Senior Year . . . hustle & "guts" were his weapons plus a high scorer's arm . . . Team finished with 13-11 season record . . . did not make play-offs for second straight year . . . Eagles were young, inexperienced, but potentially dangerous . . . but just wait . . .

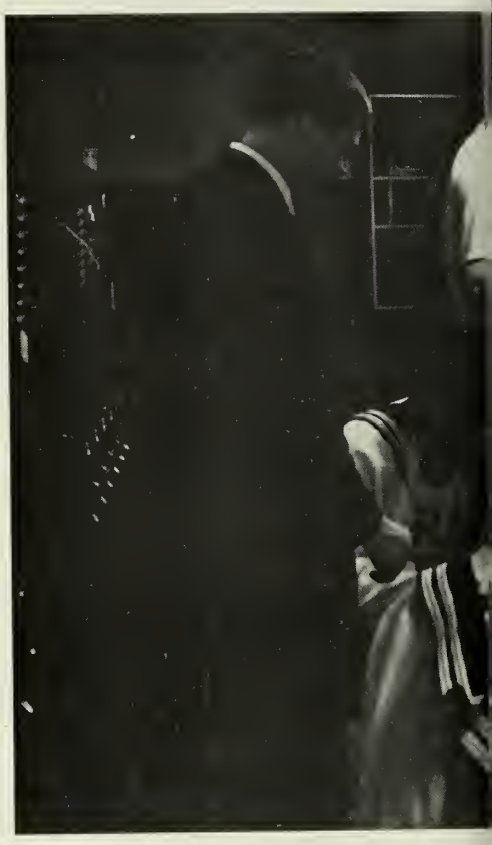
Half • Tin

Only 38 seconds shows on the clock in Homecoming game with Guilford before . . . HALF-TIME



There's silence in the dressing room . . . only heavy breathing of players is heard . . . then comes deep, thundering voice of 6-8 Coach Radovich . . . no matter the score at half-time, he talks fast and convincing . . . "We must make some changes . . . defense sloppy . . . shooting terrific so far . . . Carmichael—you must watch that guy cutting across baseline, etc . . ." Then there's more silence . . . questions excite and worry players . . . what's going to happen in second half? Can we stop them? . . . there are the few minutes of pressured waiting before going before spectators again . . . and then, there are those beautiful moments of rest interwoven with blackboard instructions from Rowe and Radovich . . . and then . . .

GSC students were ready with red handkerchiefs of their own . . . but in vain . . . didn't up-set visitors . . . they crushed Southern 100-89 . . . and then there are those extraordinary rebounds of Roger Moore when he snatches them from air with one hand . . . what about little Dave Westerfield with his quick fakes that enables him to beat his man one-on-one? . . . and we can't overlook Carmichael's accurate shooting . . . especially when he drives baseline and guns it in . . . or Buckler's soft touch that finds ball floating through bucket from thirty feet . . . memories are indefinite about this season . . . but season's end is no indication that action is over . . . action continues . . . next season . . . there's always another season.

1968 Gymnastics

Tony Blasko, a freshman from "Yankee-land", was the outstanding Eagle gymnast during the season; here performing his freestyle routine.

Coach Ron Oertley

Speed and pride are two outstanding characteristics of Billy Godwin. The Atlanta freshman is in particular a natural free exercise and trampoline man.

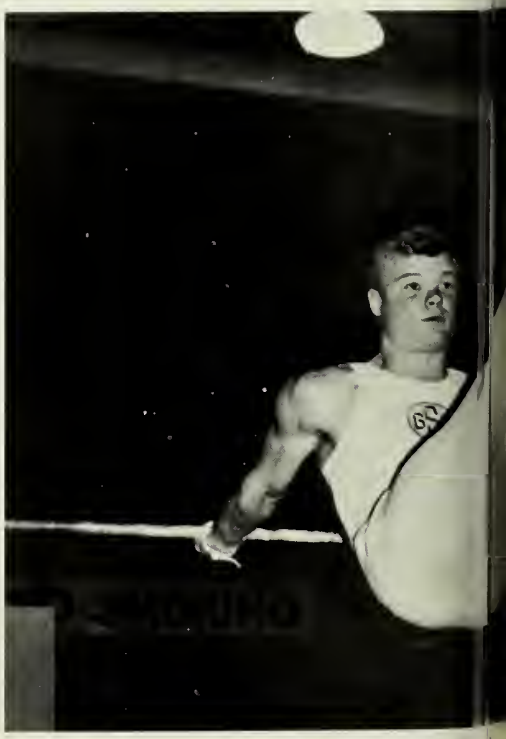
What a Season!

A major sport or not, gymnastics is again in the spotlight. The great days of Coach Pat Yeager have turned into the great ones of Coach Ron Oertley. Never before have the Eagle gymnasts been as strong and united a team as during the past season. 9-2 was the win-loss record, putting gymnastics on top of all sports at Southern. In a post-season tournament the Eagles also conquered the Georgia Gymnastics Association Championship crown, before taking off to the Nationals at Kansas City, Mo.

The win over David Lipscomb highlighted the season; never before had an Eagle squad defeated the Tennessee Bisons. But Oertley probably valued the Sam Houston victory even higher. Coach for the Texas Bearcats is a man we all know well—Pat Yeager.

Jimmy Kirkland, an easy-going senior of Glenville, Ga., dismounts with elegance from the side-horse. His top event is the long horse, however; there he leads the Eagles.

Danny Harrison, a sophomore of Atlanta, prefers the still rings, where his controlled strength often leads him to victory.



With a smile in his face and a good joke always ready, Gary Barnett keeps spirits high. The Atlanta sophomore is an outstanding all-around man.

Free exercise is Charles Eunice's strength. He hails from Waycross, Ga., and is now a senior. For four years he has been flashing the same happy smile . . . however not during his routine.

"uche!" says Denny Davis to the rpoline. He was raised in Or-a o, Fla., in the orange country, choose to attend college in the h state. He is now a senior.

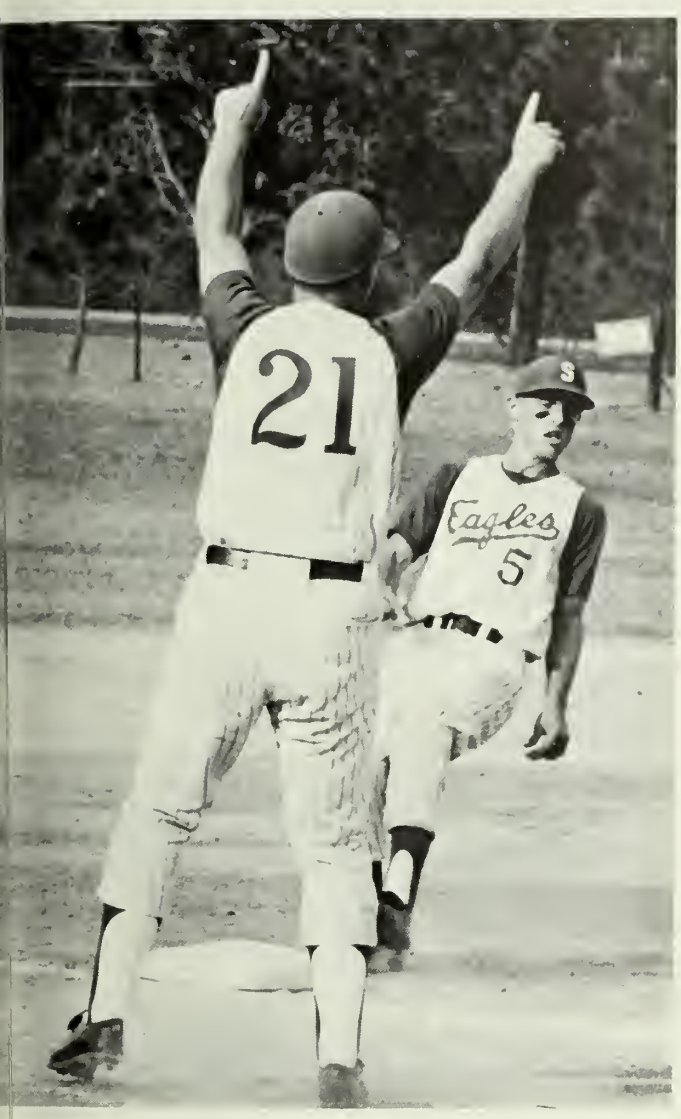
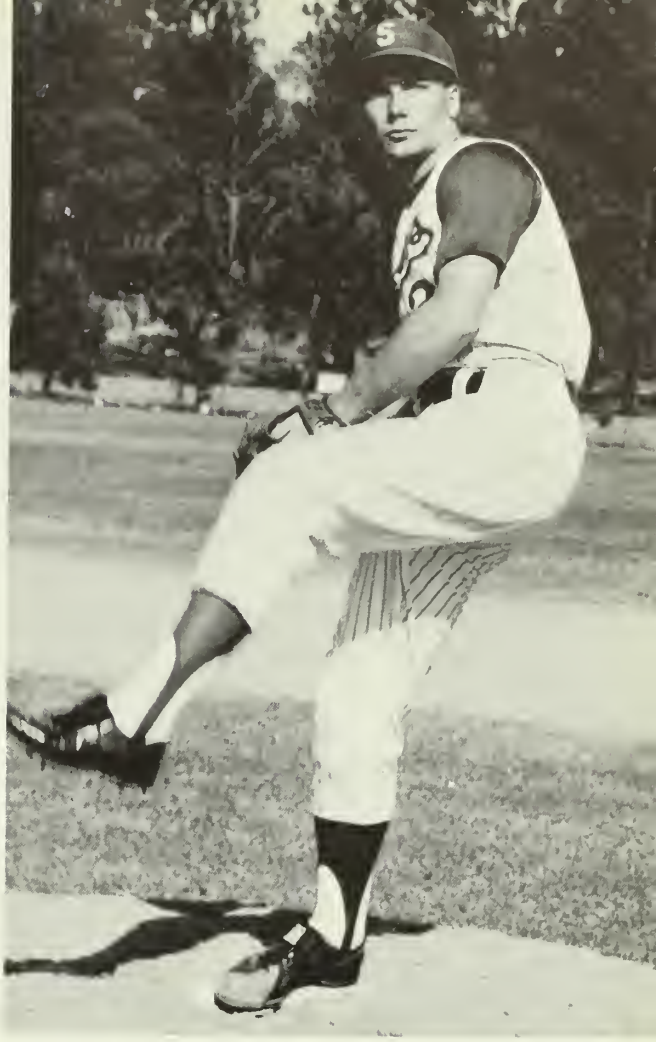
"You're not supposed to slide under my glove."

A full swing but no connection

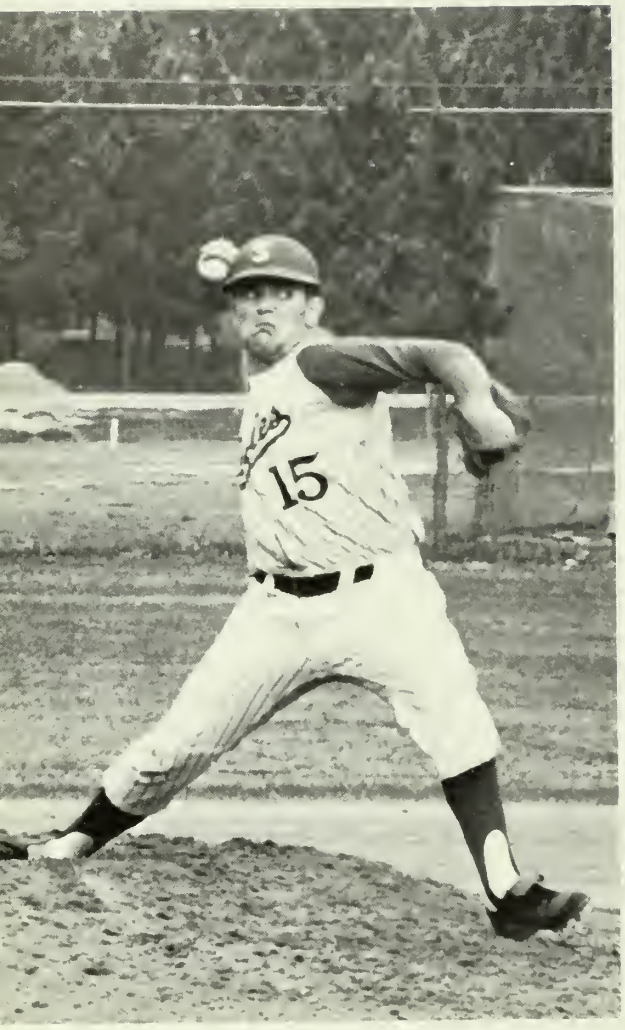


Speeding Soc holds up at third

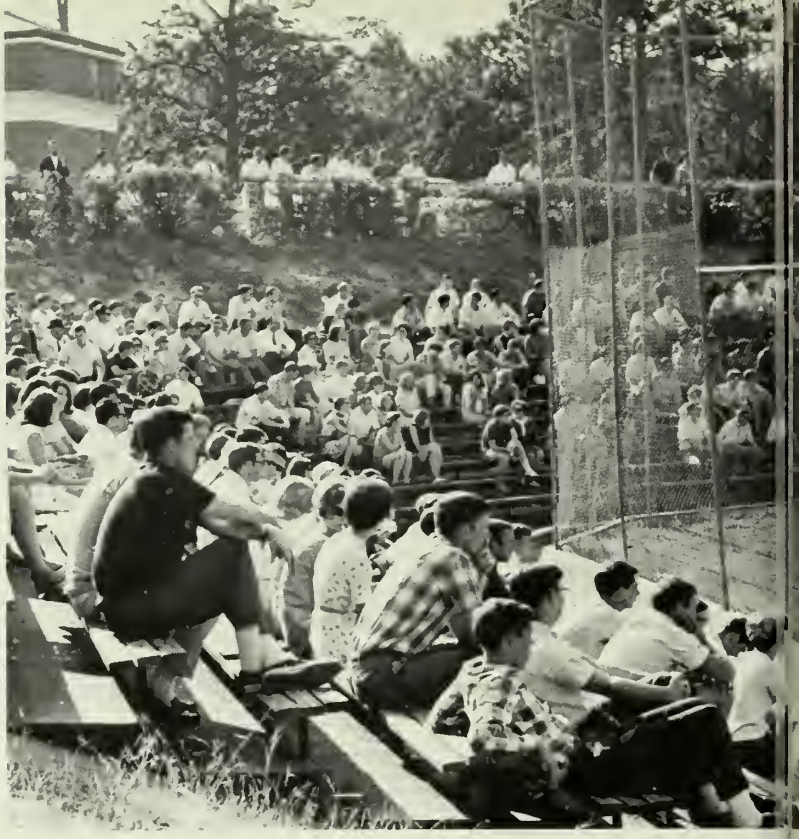


Dobson won the first round in the Nat'l Tourney against Eastern Michigan for the Eagles

An Erskine player is safe at home but loses, 8-5 to the strong Eagles

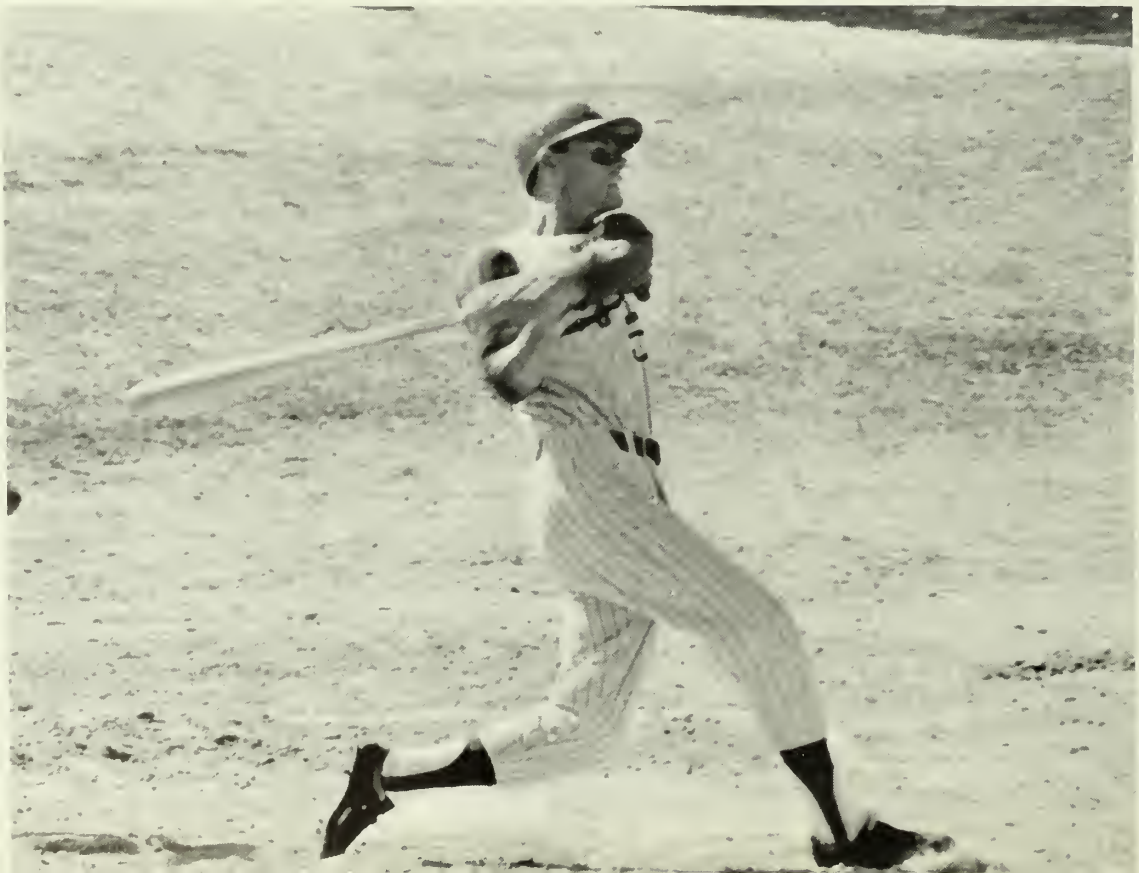


Simmons grimaces as he throws with strong delivery



Many flock to see the birds.

Even the greatest sometimes must miss.



Ralph lops the ball to Tim, who is covering first, and we have another out.

"Slide and the world slides with you."

Take that!

Golf 1967

With four returning lettermen headed by Randy Hill, GSC golf should improve upon last season's record of 6-9 and enter into the traditional ways of Georgia Southern sports—winning.

1967 RECORD:

Top right: Mike Joseberry knows that success is only yards away
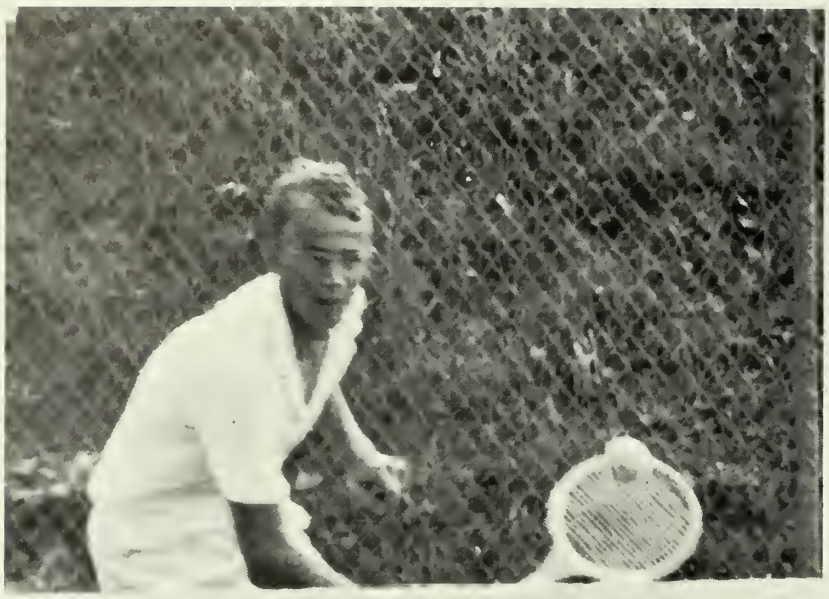
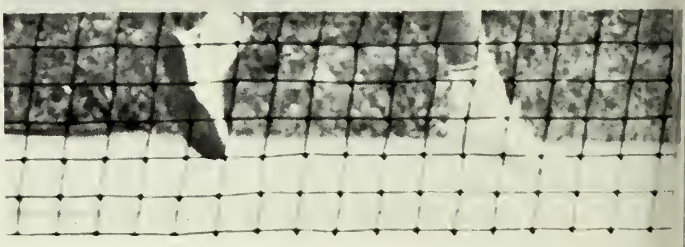
Right: Johnny McGoogan demonstrates follow-through





Tennis 1967

The Eagle netters await the 1968 season with great confidence. The reason? Five returning lettermen from 1967, the most successful year ever for Southern tennis — ending with a 12-8 won-lost record.

The five are Eddie Russell, "B.J." Kjerfve, Dan Stiles, Wally Culpepper, and Tom King.

The Eagles play their home matches on the tennoflex courts at the Hanner Gym. Last year DPA granted the team a score board and six individual score signs to make it easier for the spectators to watch the matches.

1967 RESULTS:

GSC	4	Appalachian State	3
GSC	7	Springfield	2
GSC	3	Emory	6
GSC	8	Georgia Southwestern	1
GSC	6	Armstrong	1
GSC	6	Carson-Newman	3

Intramurals at

The Intramural program under the guiding hand of Coach Charles Exley continues to improve each year. There seems to be more participation, more interest, and more excitement with each sport. If it's not the football field that is flooded with avid fans, it's the Hanner Gym that receives the enthusiasm.

Freshman Class

The Freshman Year: Confusion and Adjustment.

The freshman comes to the college campus excited over the prospects of a new life situation, one independent of the strictures of home and parents, but a little apprehensive of the problems and responsibilities of this new freedom and this new environment. Though the neophyte may not be fully aware of it yet, how well he is able to adjust to this new environment, how well he is able to accept the responsibilities along with the independence he is given, will be a test of his stability and flexibility. This year will also be of primary significance in the maturation process which is an integral part of the college experience.

Beginning with the first rigorous week of "orientation," followed by the ordeal of registration, the freshman begins the confusing struggle to accomodate himself to this strangely stimulating and complex environment. As he successfully meets each new challenge, in everyday life, in courses taken, and in social contacts, he feels a growing assurance in the successes behind him; but the deep feeling of bewilderment at the strange new wonders, the unknown problems of tomorrow, persists through most of the first year.

Sophomore Class

The beginning of the second year of college brings a thrill of accomplishment. The sophomore feels a sense of pride in the realization that he has successfully met the challenges of the freshman year: the challenge to work hard enough and learn enough to pass forty hours; the daily challenge which the mounting inconveniences and difficulties of campus life present; the personal challenge to manage and regulate your own life. As the sophomore year progresses, the student finds he is able to get along in the college situation with relative ease, and with this knowledge comes a self-confidence which begins to pervade his attitude toward himself and his future, and toward others.

The sophomore, not realizing that he has only scratched the surface of the tremendous amount of knowledge waiting to be discovered, is convinced that he knows all the answers and is capable of coping with any situation. Each new success seems to reaffirm this conviction, and thus self-assured of his own ability, he tends to view optimistically the world and his own future in it.

Soon enough, however, some of his illusory confidence will begin to fade under the harsh light of reality as the student begins to see deeper into himself and the situations which surround him.

Junior Class

For Juniors, A Year of Realization.

The junior begins the year filled with the confidence that two years of college have given him, confidence that he knows all he needs to know to get along in the world. He has learned to beat the system at registration, he knows how to get through courses with a minimum of effort, he has learned all the tricks to avoid the interminable lines, and he is secure in his social relationships. He has learned to get along in the environment that had seemed completely incomprehensible several years ago, and he feels eminently confident of his ability to meet any challenge which the next two years can offer.

But as the year progresses, he begins to realize that all is not as simple as he had imagined it. Decisions become more difficult to make as he becomes cognizant of their complexity and significance; courses become more difficult and knowledge a more important goal; even his attitude toward social life becomes more serious as he realizes it does not constitute the sum total of the college experience. As these new vision of the amount of experience to be had, knowledge to be gained, and obstacles to be conquered impress themselves upon him, he realizes he has a lot to learn during this year and the next if he is to be prepared to live in a world growing ever more complex.

Senior Class

The Senior Year: Disillusionment and Resolve.

The senior year, the year when the goal of graduation finally seems realizable, when the end to all the long hours of study and work, of classes, of fighting lines and registration is in sight. This vision of the approaching freedom of life outside the college environment inspires the beginning senior with ambition to work harder in preparation for whatever will follow graduation. But as the year progresses, and the senior looks more closely at the world situation in which he soon will be living, unprotected by the shelter of the campus, he begins to lose some of the long-held illusions about life and the world. As he looks out on the climate of violence and war which hatred, prejudice, greed, fear and hypocrisy have produced in the world today, he is increasingly insecure and apprehensive, confused and bewildered about what life in the outside world holds for him. Thus disillusioned and afraid, the senior alternates between feeling ready to withdraw completely and feeling resolved to carry on with fortitude toward his goals. And the measure of maturity which four years of college have given is the degree to which the student is able to carry on to the end despite these confusing and conflicting reactions to the prospects of life after graduation.

Georgia has come a long way during the past century. From the ashes of the past a new state has emerged, with industry setting the pace in a continuing program of growth.

Our four Georgia Plants evidence the faith we have in a state whose potential is unlimited and whose future is as bright as its brilliant past.

Editor's Note

There are many things which I, as editor of this yearbook, want to say here. I wish that I could explain what I and the staff feel the book is; I wish that I could tell you something about what went into the making of it; I wish that every reader could experience what I and the staff have felt in putting the book out, for I think you would understand it more completely if you could. I suppose that I can only say that it is to be a reflection of Georgia Southern College, 1967-68.

But as my space is limited, I shall confine myself to the usual acknowledgements and maybe one or two other observations. The staff has been great this year, but I want to take this opportunity to especially thank Walker and John for the fantastic jobs which they did so well. Without them and their fine talents, my job would have been twice as hard. My thanks go also to Mr. Mandes, not for any one thing, but for his attitude throughout the year. And I keep several professors in mind, too, for their cooperation both in and out of class.

There is not a great deal else to say. It's impossible to share on paper the feelings which I have about this book, this college, and this, my last year here. So, I'll close now, sincerely hoping that in taking so much with me, I will have left something worthwhile behind.

Gordon C. Turner, Jr.
